What's New

Since 2001, Market Scope has conducted annual surveys of US refractive surgeons on important issues regarding practice characteristics, product preferences, surgical techniques, and practice marketing. Our survey highlights practice patterns regarding laser vision correction and refractive lens exchange. We also ask refractive surgeons to rate manufacturers in the industry and their products and services. Leading ophthalmic firms and organizations sponsor the survey in order to better understand industry dynamics and gain important insights into surgeons' experiences and preferences, as well as emerging trends.
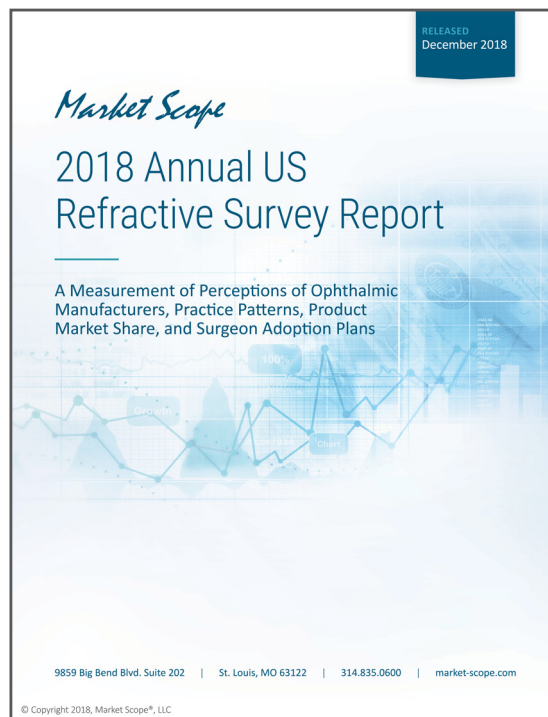

2018 Annual US Refractive Survey Report

We expand our quarterly refractive surgeon survey once per year to measure additional key metrics of the US refractive market:

Our 2018 survey report covers:

- Practice patterns for wavefront-guided ablation;
- Flap creation/surface ablation;
- Presbyopia treatment;
- Interest in SMILE (Small Incision Lenticule Extraction);
- Corneal cross-linking;
- Corneal inlays;
- Refractive lens exchange;
- Dry eye treatment regimens;

In addition, our survey report will capture market share by manufacturer, product, and market segment, as well as ophthalmologists' perceptions of companies.
